Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) Treatment for Infertility

Motivation

In modern society, due to the possibility of receiving higher education for both men and women, and the participation of women in the work force, the decision to have children comes mostly later in life.

This presents a new challenge for women who want to have children after they have already advanced in their carrier, statistics show that after 35 years old (W35B is the notation used here after in this article), women have less chances to be pregnant and higher chances of Birth Defect Risk.

The W35B demand is high enough to push the western medicine research for solution, IVF (In-vitro-Fertilisation) is one example of medical technologies that are catered for this demand.

In China, TCM has been a way to help couples wanted to have babies. The classical texts that deal with the Infertility problem are not specially targeted for W35B.

The motivations of this article are to:
- encourage patients to consider TCM as a choice on its own or in combination with IVF for W35B or Infertility in general
- persuade TCM practitioners that TCM can be and is a appropriate solution for W35B and Infertility in general

Hopefully, more future research will be done for Infertility treatment, a combination of IVF and TCM together, only by working together, we could help patients to achieve the goal better, and may be faster.

Definition of Infertility

Within ages where a woman still have periods, when the couple has tried more than 2 years of sexual intercourse, and the woman is not pregnant, in TCM, it is considered as infertility.

Infertility is further subdivided into:

1. Primary Infertility (原发性不孕症 (Yuán fā xìng bù yùn zhèng)): if the couple has not used any contraceptive means, have tried for more than two years to have baby, without success.
2. Secondary Infertility (继发性不孕症 (Jì fā xìng bù yùn zhèng)): if the woman has already been pregnant before, after more than 2 years of trying to have baby without success.
3. Absolute Infertility (绝对性不孕症 (Juéduì xìng bù yùn zhèng)): either the man or the woman has anatomical abnormality in their sexual organs and can not be corrected.
4. Relative infertility (相对性不孕症 (Xiāngduì xìng bù yùn zhèng)): either the man or the woman or both suffer from some disharmonies, these conditions can be corrected, or enhanced.

Except Absolute Infertility, in all other cases, they are within the scope where TCM can help. TCM has written records dated as far as 11 century before Christ. Dr. Fu Jing Su and his book “Gynaecology from Dr. Fu” (傅青主女科) is a name that is familiar to all Chinese physicians.

Infertility due to what the western medicine described as: functional or partial organic illnesses that lead to infertility are within the scope of this article. Most common causes are: endometriosis, infection of the vagina, pelvic inflammatory disease.
Aetiology

Kidneys keep the essence and in charge of the reproduction, Ren Meridian in charge of the conception, Zhong Meridian is the See of Blood, in charge of the menstruation. When a couple, the man and the woman, with abundant essence, a sound combination of Yin and Yang, then a baby can be created.

Any disharmonies found in Chong, Ren Meridians, in Blood, in Qi could lead to Infertility.

1. Kidneys Deficiency
Kidneys house the source of Yin and Yang energy. The physical growth, development and reproduction are based on the Yin and the Yang energy. If there is a deficiency by birth of this energy, or deficiency due to too much sexual activity, or long standing illnesses, or repeated miscarriages, this will then lead to depletion of the Chong and Ren Meridians, might cause Infertility. This includes Kidney Yin, Kidney Yang deficiency, also deficiency heat.

2. Liver Qi stagnation
Liver Qi stagnation often creates disharmonies in Blood and Qi, as well as in Chong and Ren Mai, which lead to infertility.

3. Internal Phlegm and Dampness
Overweigh, too much fatty food could lead to excessive phlegm and dampness, or too much worry, unhealthy food, these injure the Spleen, or excessive Liver Qi that over controls the Spleen, or Kidney Yang deficiency that could not warm the Spleen, Spleen deficiency will lead to improper water transportation, thus turn to Phlegm, Phlegm and Dampness flows downwards to Lower Jiao, stagnate in the Ren and Chong Meridians, Uterus, which then lead to irregular menstruation, and result in Infertility.

4. Stagnation in 胞宮 Bāo gōng (Uterus)
After birth, or after menstruation, if the Blood is not „emptied“ from the body as it should, pathogenic Qi could combine with the remaining Blood, block the Chong and the Ren Meridians and resulted in Infertility.

Modern research shows that sexual intercourse during the period or when there is an infection of the uterus, the women could develop an antibody („anti-semen“) and lead to endometriosis.

Main Characteristics

Symptoms

A couple tries to have baby via the natural sexual intercourse for more than two years without success, provided both parties have normal sexual organs and not suffer from illnesses.

Woman might suffer from irregular menstruation, no period, painful period, painful breast, lower back pain, or vagina discharges.

Gynaecological Tests

During the treatment of Infertility cases, TCM practitioners should suggest the patients to perform the following tests, send the patient back to their House doctors might be the only way to get these tests done if the practitioners are not medical doctors themselves.

Basic tests include: general check up for internal and external sexual organs. To ensure there is no abnormalities.

Specific tests such as the following could be performed based on the Doctors’ opinion:
- Ovarian (卵巢 Luāncháo ) function test, body temperature tests, feminine hormones level test, ovarian reserve fertility tests to evaluation of egg quantity and quality.
- Hysterosalpingogram (HSG) is an X-ray test. It looks at the inside of the uterus and fallopian tubes and the area around them. HSG can check if there are any Fibroids (myomas), polyps, blockage, endometriosis, inflamed fallopian tube.
- Laparoscopy, Laparoscopy is a surgical procedure that involves insertion of a narrow telescope-like instrument through a small incision in the belly button. This allows visualization of the abdominal and pelvic organs including the area of the uterus, fallopian tubes and ovaries.
- Use CT, MRI to eliminate pituitary disease (垂体病).

TCM Differential Diagnosis

In order to help making a good diagnostics, it is important to ask questions to clarify: menstruation pattern, history of miscarriage, pills history, overweigh, illnesses. 暗产, miscarriage within first month of pregnancy, or miscarriages after first month of pregnancy.

TCM Treatment Principle

The TCM practitioners need to pay attention to the emotional states of the women patients. Women who has undergone the IVF/ISSI often gone through a swing of emotional states, from uncertainly, before the results are out, sadness when the results are not as expected, extreme happiness when the results are positive. All women who did not made it the first time with IVF did question about their womanhood.

As there is a closed relationship between Infertility and the menstrual cycle, in addition, Kidneys are responsible for the reproduction, strengthen the kidneys, regulate the periods, are the basis for the TCM Infertility treatment.

For deficiency condition, tonify the Zhang Fu, nourish the Blood and Jing, tonify the Chong and the Ren Meridians, for excessive condition, regulate the Qi and the Blood, and eliminate the Phlegm and the Stasis. Avoid using very bitter, very cold and pungent herbs, rather use sweet, warm herbs for the Infertility treatment.

Modern Research: western medicine finding

Any abnormality found in the Hypothalamus, pituitary, Ovaries, Uterine axis (子宫轴) could lead to dysfunction of Corpus Luteum, which cause Infertility.

Immune Infertility, Corpus Luteum defect, blockage of the fallopian tubes (scar tissues, with mucus), abnormalities of the Uterus could cause Infertility.

TCM treatment adapted to western Medicine finding

- Dr. 夏光惠 has done a lot of research on Immune Infertility, he concluded that the main causes are: Kidneys deficiency, Blood stasis, Damp Heat, Kidney deficiency being the Ben cause, and Blood stasis and Damp heat being the Biao causes. His own formula: 菟丝子 12g, 山茱萸肉 12g, 枸杞子 12g, 白芍 10g, 女贞子 10g, 山药 10g, 桑寄生 10g, 赤芍 10g, 红花 10g, 益母草 15g, 白花蛇舌草 15g, 生甘草 10g.
The herbs should be taken once per day, stop taking the herbs during the period, three periods consist of one treatment.

- Dr. 唐桂兰 uses 桃红四物汤 variations to treat 35 cases of Infertility due to inflammation of the fallopian tubes, 60% cured, 82% improved the condition.

TCM textbooks hold that Kidneys and Blood deficiencies are the main causes for the Infertility. Liver Qi stagnation and Blood stasis form the second major causes for Infertility.
- TCM treatment for Infertility due to Corpus Luteum has successful pregnancy rates between 84.4 % to 93.8 %, successful deliveries 51.6 % to 59.4 %. According to Dr. 党丽英, Treating Infertility due to insufficient Corpus Luteum with TCM, published in 2002, 安徽中医临床杂志.

- Dr. 吴 based his treatment on pacify the Liver, invigorate Blood, tonify the Kidneys, herbs used: 柴胡 Cháihú, 白芍 Báisháo, 丹参 Dānshēn, 熟地 Shúdì, 枸杞 Gōuqǐ, 山茱萸 Shānzhūyú, 菟丝子 Túsìzi, 肉苁蓉 Ròucōngróng, 巴戟天 Bājìtiān, 杜仲 Dúzhǒng.

The herbs are chosen depending on pathologies found in patients, be it related to Liver, Kidneys or Spleen. The herbs are taken after the period, 15-20 days, three months constitute one treatment. 84 cases treated with this strategy, with 81.0 % success rate. The result was published in 1997, in 实用中西医结合杂志.

针灸大成: “女人子宫久冷，不受胎孕，子宫，三阴交, 中极。”

Conclusion

Infertility will always be a topic of great interests, as it is a problem related to human reproduction.

For Primary Infertility, Secondary Infertility and Relative Infertility cases, TCM shows good results in the past, now, also will be in the future to help patients conceive their babies.

W35B and the arrival of new technologies, such as IVF, introduce new aspects for TCM practitioners to be taken into account when treating Infertility cases.

To serve the patients better, a new communication channel need to be established, between TCM practitioners and the hospitals, and other western medical practitioners that work with the same patients, this networking structure does not exist for the moment, extra effort is required for such networking, for the independent TCM practitioners, often we do not have the resources and the time to build such networking.

This appendix selects some patients from my patients’ database who came for the Infertility treatment, they include Primary Infertility, Secondary Infertility, Relative Infertility and W35B cases. Some patients rely on TCM only, others have already started with IVF or intended to use IVF after they have started TCM.

TCM treatment enhanced their Ki Qi for most cases, patients who got pregnant have some Bio symptoms eliminated or improved, the underlining disharmonies, required more Ben treatment, might be improved but far from a balanced state in most cases.

These underlining disharmonies include Phlegm Accumulation, Blood Deficiency, Damp Heat, Spleen Deficiency, Fire condition or Liver Qi stagnation.

The mind-set to have children with an enhanced Ki Qi overcome the existing underlining disharmonies, fertility is gained.
